

Traveling to YCamp

We ask all staff members, whether local, or from farther away, to provide arrival details so we know when to expect you at camp. Please read all of the below information, before making your travel arrangements, to ensure the smoothest possible travel!

Your Staff Agreement for camp will (most likely) either start on June 9 or June 12, however, you should plan to travel to and arrive at YCamp by June 8th or June 11th. This will allow you to get settled into camp and be ready to start training the following morning.

Driving to Camp

YCamp is about a 3 hour drive from Boston, and a one hour drive from Portland. It takes about 4 and a half hours to drive from Quebec City, and about 5 hours from Montreal.

Flying to Camp

If you are flying to camp, the airports that are available to arrive into are:

- Boston Logan International Airport - BOS
- Portland International Jetport - PWM
- Bangor International Airport - BGR

Boston is the largest of these three, and in most cases, staff will use BOS.

Ensure your flight arrival time is no later than 7pm on June 8th or June 11th.

YCamp will provide shuttles to YMCA Camp of Maine from BOS and PWM, on June 8th and June 11th, for counselors who arrive before 7pm.

Once you have booked your flight, send your confirmation to kim@maineycamp.org. You will then be given a spot on the shuttle. Prior to your travel, you will be provided with the meeting time and place. If you are having trouble making travel arrangements within these constraints, please email kim@maineycamp.org.

If you are someone with a start date that is not June 9 or June 12, you can use Concord Coach Lines to travel to Augusta, Maine, where YCamp staff can pick you up.

If you schedule your arrival after hours and are unable to connect with the YCamp shuttle, or the Concord Coach Lines, you will be responsible for your own overnight accommodation, and will use the Concord Coach Line to travel to Augusta, Maine.
